May and June: Watercolor and Oil Paintings by Kamini Jain

Kamini Jain was born in 1972 in a small village in India. She pursued a career in the medical field. After completing her degree in Ayrvedic medicine, she married and moved to the United States.

Jain is a self-taught artist who likes to paint confident women. She uses water colors and oil paints on canvas. She is best known for painting Indian women in traditional dresses. Her paintings are frequently reflect women's liberation and relevant images of her life in rural India.

Jain is presently a homemaker and spends her free time creating paintings that bring back memories from her home town in India.

Collections on Display

May and June: Lunch Box Collection Josephine Westerman, Collector

Josephine Westerman has been collecting for 25 years. First pottery, then art glass and carnival glass caught her interest. Occasionally she bought a lunch box and one day realized she had a lunch box collection.

Westerman enjoys sharing her various collections in metro Atlanta libraries. She and her husband frequent yard sales, ever on the lookout for another treasure.
